

a SCOUT is REVERENT

1 | REVERENCE NEW! For a youth to become the best possible citizen, the Boy Scouts of America recognizes an obligation to God as well as the religious element in member training. This nonsectarian guideline is an excellent resource for interfaith—Christian, Jewish, and Muslim—worship, encouraging members to strengthen their own relationship with God through personal prayer, and to set examples for others through their conduct. It also provides information on the religious emblems program. 34248 3.99

2 | IN OUR OWN WAY An inspirational collection of Scout prayers, benedictions, and other devotions from every major world faith tradition embodying a century of the BSA and their founding moral principles, In Our Own Way is compiled and edited by Dr. Robert Lee Edmonds, an Eagle Scout and recipient of the BSA's Honor Medal with over 25 years of volunteer service to Scouting. This book is a "must-have" for every Scout and leader, as well as anyone wanting to discover and share a Scouting way of life. 34612 10.95

3 | STRENGTH FOR SERVICE Originally published in 1942 to inspire and support soldiers during World War II, the updated version of this devotional book, now with over 250,000 copies printed, has again touched soldiers at home and abroad. Also well-suited for anyone in civic duty, such as police officers and firefighters, and Scouts of all ages. 32545 7.99

GOD AND COUNTRY A church-sponsored program from P.R.A.Y. Publication, this series helps young people grow in their understanding of the Protestant faith, translate beliefs into action, and provide Christian service to others. From Cub Scouts through Boy Scouts (grades 1–12), each of the four age-appropriate required student workbooks is presented to the pastor or appointed counselor for final approval. 3.99 each
